

August 6, 2007

It's been quite a while since our last update, but I wanted to let you all know how well Jasmine has been. The little girl still keeps me busy.. always! Honestly, there's never a dull moment around our house. :) Jasmine is now 3 1/2 years old and weighs in around 65 lbs. She looks just wonderful and I always get compliments on what a good looking dog she is.

Her energy level is still pretty high, but that's just another reason why we love her. Jasmine spends most of her days camped out on the loveseat in front of the picture window where she patrols the neighborhood. All of the neighbors know her because they see her sitting, standing and sometimes sleeping on duty, right there for everyone to see.

Everyday when I get home from work she gets excited because she knows we're going to the D.P. (our abbreviation for Dog Park, since she knows what "dog park" means) and goes absolutely crazy until we get there. We are regulars at the park and most everyone knows us. Her best friend at the park is a Rhodesian Ridgeback/Lab mix named Madda. Jasmine has a signature move designated by another park-goer "the booty bump" where she whips her body around and bumps other dogs with her rear end. She only pulls this move out for certain dogs and when she does, it means she's ready to play and now!

Jasmine is also quite the hit of the neighborhood. We have dogs to both sides of our yard and another one caddy-corner and when they're out, all of the dogs whine and want Jasmine to come play with them. Sometimes she runs from one fence to the other to see them and at other times she torments them all by laying in the middle of our yard, ignoring them and chewing on toys.

Jasmine now has her own pet sitter who comes to our house a couple times a week to feed Jazzy in her "high chair." Having a pet sitter come in on a regular basis has been great for Jasmine to learn to trust someone else to feed her so when we go away for a day or two, the sitter can stop in and care for Jasmine and she knows her. Life is good for this little Shepherd.

August 6, 2007

Photos: 1) Waiting for her dad to get home from work. 2) She looks right at home on the couch, doesn't she? 3) Jasmine is a good sport even with a hooded duck towel on her. 4) My favorite photo of her. 5) Jasmine and her best buddy Madda running at the dog park. 6) chewing a stick in the yard. 7) This is where she patrols the neighborhood from. Complete with couch cushions moved out of her way. 8) Jasmine enjoying a spring day out in the yard.

January 2, 2006

Jasmine is doing extremely well. While still quite full of energy, she is so much fun to have around. She's always busy. Whether it is chewing on toys, chasing squirrels in the yard or racing against anyone going up or down the stairs, she's always doing something. Some of her favorites include tearing up the bed in the spare room, her toys, hiding socks, going for rides in the car, running with her buddies at the dog park, belly rubs, ice cubes, and the list could go on and on. She's a very special dog and although we do spoil her immensely, she is truly grateful for all of it. She's an amazing companion and friend.

Photos: 1) bedtime for Jasmine 2) Christmas dog! 3-4) Jasmine in her yard 5) Adventurous Jasmine 6) Lots of toys!

December 2004

Photos: 1-3) playing in the snow 4) nosey pup 5-6) Holiday hats 7) tired

November 2004

Photos: 1) Jasmine chasing her tail! 2) Lounging in the leaf pile. 3) Hiding in the leaves. 4) Playing in the leaves. 5) Playing with her rubber chicken.

January 2, 2006

December 2004

November 2004

